SNACK ON PUBLIC HEALTH

Urban heat and birth outcomes in Portland by Vivek Shandas, PhD, Professor, PSU

For this seminar, Dr. Shandas will be presenting on his current research aimed at filling the gaps in the fields of climate science and public health by addressing the following:

- To what extent does urban heat (as an environmental stressor) affect birth outcome?
- Do babies born in urban heat islands differ in terms of their birth outcome?
- What are landscape features that help to mediate the exposure to urban heat?
